

Sp. 1640(8) 9.

advice sought?

from persons

and from other

A particular form of the law concerning engagement or retaining the services of any lawyer or attorney.

Business firms and other organizations, individuals and other persons addressed, prepare a copy of their contract of engagement which is to be signed by each party to it.

This is usually done by the firm.

In this manner they may be sure that all parties understand the conditions existing between the parties to the engagement and may also know what action to take in certain emergency situations.

Business firms engaged in certain trades prefer to have a lawyer to advise them in their legal proceedings.

for example

[Signature]

RS 17/4